Plan Formation Of Large Sewer District To Aid Glendale

LEGISLATIVE BILL SEEKS TO ASSIST SMALLER CITIES SOLVE PROBLEM

Assemblyman Hugh Pomeroy, Formerly of Burbank, To Introduce Measure

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—Assemblyman Hugh Pomeroy, secretary of the Redondo Beach Chamber of Commerce, will introduce a bill in the assembly providing for the formation of metropolitan sewer districts similar to those existing in flood control legislation.

This is the first of a series to ameliorate impossible conditions precipitated by Los Angeles dumping sewage near Manhattan, Hermosa and Redondo.

Assemblyman Pomeroy formerly was the Burbank Chamber of Commerce secretary, and considers the measure of equal interest to the Glendale district.

In the fight for sewage disposal which will be made possible by a metropolitan district, obviating any necessity for annexation to Los Angeles, local legislators have promised support.

Economy Under Way
Economy is already beginning to take hold and Governor Richardson has assurance of keeping government costs within the bounds of reason, according to leaders. The new highway commission will take the lead by voiding many paving contracts for which there now are no funds.

The Sacramento Union today paints a gloomy picture for re-apportionment this session, indicating the southern solons lack the strength to put it over.

Governor's Story
Governor Richardson revealed the one secret of his campaign in which he practised the utmost economy. He told the story himself at the banquet tendered him by the California Press association.

CHILD STAR GETS ENORMOUS BONUS
Jackie Coogan to Collect $500,000 Today on Big Metro Contract

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Two of the greatest stars in motion pictures will soon appear in Metro pictures.

Jackie Coogan, greatest child actor, was scheduled to sign a half million dollar contract with the same organization, it was learned.

Under the Coogan agreement, he will receive a cash bonus of $500,000 the minute he puts his name on the dotted line and 10 per cent of the profits from four pictures which he will make will also go to him. It is said the four pictures which he will make will be made in a little over a year, and that all costs of production will be borne by the Metro interests.

Father to Direct
The child's father, Jack Coogan, Sr., will assume an active part in his son's future, actually directing young Jackie as well as selecting the stories which will be filmed.

It was learned today following a conference between Joseph M. Schenck and the heads of the Metro corporation that Keaton has also been signed. Keaton's first feature under this new contract will be the most expensive comedy ever produced and England's prize winning beauty, Margaret Leamy will co-star with Keaton in the new film.

FUNDS FOR SANTA MONICA

Serious Incident Between British And Turks, Said

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Despite efforts of officials to hush it up, persistent reports were circulated this afternoon that a "serious incident" had taken place between the Turks and British at Chanak yesterday.

Attempts during the afternoon to get official information regarding the "Chanak incident" led to fresh denials. In diplomatic circles it was said there had been "a slight clash" between British and Turkish troops.

It is reported from Constantinople that the Angora (Turkish Nationalist) government is calling up demobilized classes.

Chanak lies at the narrow of the Dardanelles. It was seized by the British before the Mudania armistice was signed and converted into a powerful fortress. Recently it has been reported that the Turks were massing troops in the direction of Chanak, menacing the British position from the Asiatic side. The London reports indicated that there had been an armed clash at that point between the British and the Turkish nationalists.

FIGHT ON MOTOR VEHICLE BUREAU

Farm Bloc in Assembly to Ask Abolition of Big State Department

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—Members of the farm bloc in the lower house of the state legislature have tentatively decided to ask the abolition of the state motor vehicle department, it was announced today by Assemblyman Van Bernhard.

Elimination of the motor vehicle bureau will be asked on the ground that it has proved very costly and that the work could be handled by the county clerks of the state under the supervision of some state officer. The cost of running the motor vehicle department during 1922 was approximately $900,000. An average of 250 employees are maintained in the five offices of the department.

The move to abolish the motor vehicle bureau will not have the support of those close to Governor Friend W. Richardson.

Judge Gavin Craig Receives Fine of $15

Judge Gavin Craig, justice of the court of appeals in Los Angeles, who was cited to appear this morning in Judge F. H. Lowe's court to answer to a charge of exceeding the speed limit early this week on Colorado street, was represented by Judge Owen E. Emery, who paid a fine of $15 for the offense.

In the charge it was stated that Judge Craig was driving at twenty-six miles an hour along Colorado street, thus violating the fifteen miles an hour law.

She certainly made some tellin' arguments, braggin' about the summer weather, the bloomin' flowers, and so on. And Mary never forgets to bring in something about Glendale special. She told, Annie and Will that Glendale has some of the finest stores she ever saw and that the storekeepers of Glendale are workin' with the people to build up a still greater city and that the people are appreciatin' what they got here in the way of stores.

DEADLOCK RESULTS AT MASS MEETING ON BOND ISSUE

Plan to Hold Another Session Next Thursday Night for Further Discussion

The mass meeting held last night in the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school to consider the report of the Citizens' Committee of Fifteen, recommending a $447,675 bond issue for school expansion, ended in a deadlock, after more than two hours of heated pro and con discussion.

The result was that at 10:30 o'clock a motion was carried to adjourn and meet again at the call of the chair. Whereupon Chairman W. E. Hewitt issued a call for another mass meeting of the people of Glendale at 8 o'clock on Thursday night of next week, January 18.

In the meantime the hope was expressed by the Citizens' Committee of Fifteen that those on both sides of this issue will make themselves more familiar with the contents of the report, so that it can be discussed with more comprehensiveness at next Thursday's meeting.

Near Bonding Capacity
The sentiment of last night's meeting was obviously well divided, and at times in the discussion, feeling ran rather high.

Following a reading of the report by the chairman, an effort was made to push through an immediate in toto adoption. It was with the failure of this effort that the sentiment on the opposite side became obvious.

John R. Grey obtained the floor and produced figures based on Glendale's present tax rate, to show that the city was already within a few thousand dollars of its bonding capacity.

"In order to float a bond issue of approximately a half million dollars," stated Mr. Grey, "Glendale will be forced to double its present assessed property valuation. We will have a majority at the polls on such a proposition." (Continued on Page 2)

RECOMMEND SALE OF STATE LANDS

Norwalk Hospital Property May Be Disposed of to Oil Company

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—Sale of the Norwalk state hospital property, which is believed to be rich in oil deposits, will be recommended to the legislature by the state budget board, it was announced today.

Several oil companies are in the market for the property and it is believed by the members of the budget board that the state would realize a greater sum by selling the land outright than by leasing it.

Land adjoining the state property has brought in several gushers and preliminary examinations of that land indicate that it also contains large oil deposits.

E. G. Twogood, acting director of the state department of institutions is now en route to the state property, which is near Los Angeles. He will make a report to the budget board to guide the legislature in its action on the matter.

Automobile Collides With Railway Bus

Barney Miller, of 1046 Florida avenue, Los Angeles, was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital about 7:30 this morning with cuts and bruises. His automobile had crashed into a Pacific Electric bus which was crossing the east side of Brand boulevard just after it had left its parking space on Cypress avenue.

Mrs. L. Woodward of 107 East Los Feliz Road, who was a passenger in the bus, was badly shaken up and was taken to her home.

The rear step of the bus was knocked off and it is reported that the body of the two and a half ton Moreland truck was knocked about two inches out of place. R. R. Stubbs of 408 West Arden avenue, chauffeur of the bus, was not injured.

MRS. J. W. COTTON RELATES HISTORY ABOUT ETCHING MAKES PLEA FOR LOTS OF SMILES

Tells Interesting Story at Central Avenue P.-T. A. Meeting Yesterday

In interpretation of a collection of etchings, aqua-tints, water colors and oils, by John W. Cotton of 1137 San Raphael avenue, Mrs. Cotton spoke yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Central Avenue Parent-Teachers' association at the school. The Cotton collection, including ten line etchings, thirteen aqua-tints, twelve water-colors and three oils, has been hung in the school auditorium all this week for the enjoyment and appreciation of teachers, students, parents and friends.

Because of an engagement in a Los Angeles studio, Mr. Cotton was unable to be present, so Mrs. Cotton was invited to come and tell the story of etching.

Reaches Far Back
Citing etching as an old art dating back to 1400 when the first signed etching was made, Mrs. Cotton stated that the art has been wonderfully revived in the last few years.

She named Rembrandt as the first etcher and Andrew Zorn, Swedish artist, as one of the most prominent exponents of the art. "Etching is done by an acid process on either a zinc or copper plate," said Mrs. Cotton. "This plate, to be used, is covered with a wax base, a smoky black color. The etcher works with a needle, deposits will be in Glendale at dates to be decided upon later to give aid and answer questions to all desiring it.

Remember, we are here to serve you," concluded Mr. Wessling. "We want to give you every help in our power. But we must have your co-operation. And we urge that you do not (Continued on Page 3)

ATHLETIC EXHIBITION FEATURE OF LUNCHEON BY ROTARY CLUB

Coach Hayhurst and High School Boys Give Novel Program; Discuss Civic Matters

The Rotary club luncheon yesterday had a decidedly athletic flavor. It was the annual "Boys' Work" meeting, and Chairman Owen C. Emery introduced as his principal speaker Coach Normal C. Hayhurst, of the Glendale Union high school, who gave a talk on "Physical Recreation and Development for Boys."

Recalling that United States army statistics during the war showed one-third of the men examined to be unfit, Coach Hayhurst pointed out the three chief reasons for this condition among the young men of the nation. They were, he said, (1) the advance of industrialism, (2) the leisure by product of wealth, and (3) the growth of cities.

"The school, once thought of as a place merely to develop the mind, has of necessity become a place to develop the body as well," stated the coach. "As the factories grow and the cities expand, playing amongst boys becomes less and less. They haven't the time, nor the place. The vacant lot where boys of a past generation used to play is becoming a thing of the past in cities. Therefore it is up to the schools to see that a time and a place are found for boys—yes, and girls—to play."

Six Hours Per Week
California is one of the few states that has recognized this need and enacted legislation providing for it. Coach Hayhurst explained. The state minimum, he pointed out, is two hours per week, whereas the pupils of the Glendale Union High school are getting six hours per week of directed, "big muscle activity," as he calls it.

They are getting it, moreover, daily, which is most important, and a great improvement over last year's schedule of physical exercise on alternate days.

Following his talk, Coach Hayhurst put on several athletic numbers by high school boys. The first was a three-round boxing match between Allen Pollock ("Gunboat Al") and Harry Bennett ("Hurricane Harry"). This bout uncovered some fast work by both boys and gave Rotarians an appetite for more such athletic sauce with their luncheons.

Illustrate Daily Dozen
Another event that proved popular was an illustration by four high school boys of Walter Camp's famous "Daily Dozen," under the direction of Coach Hayhurst. The boys participating were Burt

Ruhr Situation Is Quiet But Tense; Business Goes On

By S. D. WEYER

For International News Service
ESSEN, Germany, Jan. 12.—German industrial resistance to French occupation began to show its teeth today. Privy Chancellor Gruetznier appeared before General Simon, head of the Franco-Belgian-Italian industrial commission and made formal denial of the commission's right to interfere in the German coal mining industry in the Ruhr fields.

The German coal magnates snubbed the allied commission by sending agents instead of appearing in person as the French military authorities desired. The mine owners made it plain beyond doubt that they were to oppose the French at every turn.

The French now have the mines, but it is a question if they will be able to do anything with them. Essen and the heart of the Ruhr coal fields now are under French military domination. The situation is quiet but tense. There have been no disorders and no attacks against the invading troops.

Essen is completely surrounded by French troops, while the encirclement of the whole Ruhr district is continuing. Business has been going on as usual the last two days. The mines are operating but the crisis may come tomorrow—pay day.

REAL ESTATE MEN HOLD BUSY MEET

Number of Important Matters Are Heard; Contribute to Chobe Fund

The Glendale Real Estate board, at its meeting yesterday at the Broadway Inn, went on record as favoring a constitutional amendment to the present state law governing non-taxable securities. It was the sense of the meeting that non-taxable securities should be taxed. A resolution to this effect was passed. A similar resolution was passed at the state convention of real estate men, which was recently held at Santa Ana.

Charles Guthrie, who made the motion, told the membership that it is not fair that people are allowed to get away from paying taxes by the simple process of purchasing non-taxable securities. He says they obtain the same public services as people who pay taxes. Mr. Guthrie's talk was well received.

Mr. Guthrie also moved that the real estate board donate $25 to the fund being collected by the Chamber of Commerce for L. W. Chobe, designer of Glendale's prize-winning float at the Pasadena Rose Tournament. The resolution was immediately drawn and unanimously adopted. Mr. Guthrie said that in his opinion Mr. Chobe has done more to advertise Glendale than any other one person.

Discuss New System
Considerable time was spent at the meeting in the discussion of various angles of the multiple listing system. The temper of the membership regarding the status of the new selling project was taken also.

It was voted before adjournment to call a special meeting for Tuesday night, January 16, for a general discussion of the multiple listing system. The board intimated that it was high time that all understandings of the system should be ironed out. The meeting will be held at the Broadway Inn. It will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Announcement was made that Supervisor H. W. Wright, of the Fifth district, will address the Rotarians at their regular session, next Thursday. President C. D. Thom presided.

CHANCELLOR FEARS MORAL POWER OF COUNTRY NEARS DISAPPEARANCE

Governments of World May Have to Effect Rescue, Asserts Official

By DAVID M. CHURCH

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The black shadow of bolshevism hangs over Germany today as a result of the French invasion, according to warnings sent out by Chancellor Wilhelm Cuno, from Berlin.

It is learned from an authoritative source that Chancellor Cuno's message was sent to all German diplomats in foreign countries and informed them that "Germany will collect all the moral power left in an effort to make moral opposition to French invasion of the Ruhr effective."

The message continued: "This policy is taken in the final hope that before moral power disappears entirely the governments of the world will recognize Germany's real plight and come to her assistance."

It is understood that Herr St. Hamer, German ambassador to England has presented a note to the British foreign office saying: "So long as conditions contrary to the Versailles treaty remain in existence Germany will not be able to make any reparations deliveries of any kind to those powers that brought about these conditions."

Payment Due Monday
Germany's next gold indemnity payment is due to the allies Monday. A dispatch from Paris, however, reported that the allies reparations commission would meet tomorrow to consider Germany's request for an indemnity moratorium.

Partial moratorium granted last autumn has not expired.

France has between 40,000 and 50,000 troops massed in the eastern part of the Ruhr coal fields and to the north and south of the Ruhr basin. The intimation given by Chancellor Cuno and all German officials is that Germany cannot undertake any resistance except of a peaceful passive nature. Germany is without war supplies of any kind and could not undertake a military campaign, no matter how great her anger against the French.

May Call Conference
Belief is growing in some of the allied capitals that another "peace conference" will be necessary to revise the treaty of Versailles. France is the only nation that professes belief that another parley will not be held. The French are adamant in opposing another conference and in insisting that the Versailles pact be applied to the letter.

Premier Mussolini of Italy already has suggested to France that a parley be called to revise the reparations clauses of the treaty but the French have rejected the proposal.

France also has rejected the American plan for an international commission of bankers to discuss the indemnity issue.

France to Hold Ruhr.
The third proposal, submitted by England, that the indemnity problem be put up to the League of Nations, with the same response from Paris; that is, that France stands upon its absolute application.

There is little likelihood that France will withdraw from the Ruhr and the Rhineland industrial belt now that they have been occupied. Many British officials believe that France will settle down, making occupation as mild as possible, but meanwhile working hard for a separation of the Rhineland from the balance of Germany.

Southern Assemblyman Will Present Measure; Economy Now Under Way

Palm Springs on the road to Imperial Valley where he had been campaigning. That desert oasis looked good for breakfast, but before the meal was finished he was presented with two finger bowls at the hostelry there and a bill for $1.50.

"If it had even been thought that I paid that price for a breakfast the people never would have believed my claims to make this state more economical," was his conclusion.

The governor should have spent the night in Palm Springs and he would agree that breakfast is the most economical thing you can buy in the community which Rodolph Valentino made famous over night.

County Museums

Museums are the subject of a bill to be introduced in the legislature by Senator A. Burlingame Johnson of Pasadena. It is intended to more definitely define the purpose and scope of county museums throughout the state, and is an outgrowth of the experience of the Los Angeles' museum working with the meagre existing law governing such institutions, this particular one being in the senator's district.

Powers are placed in the hands of the county supervisors to establish museums for recreational and educational purposes and the new legislation would enable the authorities to negotiate the exchange of duplicate material to the mutual benefit of all.

For instance, the senator pointed out, the Los Angeles Museum of History, Science and Art, has hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of natural history objects, the existence of which is known all over the United States and Europe.

Yet there is no law under which it can exchange them with other museums in the state or elsewhere. They would be welcome additions and if so distributed would be of inestimable value in an educational way and should be so utilized by California, he believes.

This is a measure which appeals to all educators and calls for no appropriation, but simply opens the way for all state museums and counties seeking to establish a museum to utilize its own duplicate material and share with others who have valuable collections in exchange.

Aids Branch University

Senator Charles W. Lyons also has a bill for presentation which will give the southern branch State University in Los Angeles a full curriculum, and this is apt to embroil the legislature in another factional fight, one being almost certain in the matter of re-apportionment.

Aids Branch University

Another hot contest is foreseen in the recommendation of the state board of equalization that a tax be placed on stages and trucks, for the motor carriers are well organized. Another suggestion of the board in its biennial report is a sales tax on gasoline for the maintenance of highways. Senator Johnson of Pasadena will father the move for a gasoline tax, it is understood, but under the terms of the bill he proposes to introduce stationary engines, etc., will be excluded as it is strictly a highway revenue measure. Upwards nine million of dollars will be realized in this manner, it is predicted.

Printer Is Drafted

Tally three more for the Fourth Estate. Frank Smith of Los Angeles, a well-to-do printer, has been drafted by the governor to occupy the post of state printer in which position the chief executive made his reputation for efficiency and economy originally. Will H. Marsha of Sacramento, a former newspaperman and for years a lieutenant to Richardson, is the new superintendent of the state motor vehicle department, and pledges his aid in the economy program. Harry Lutgens, a Bay City newspaperman, is executive secretary to the governor, while Joseph W. Vickers, a Los Angeles attorney, is on the job as private secretary. Not one asked for their jobs and the governor declares no newspaper men have appeared to him for appointment.

DEADLOCK OVER SCHOOL PROJECT

Another Meeting to Be Held Next Thursday Night for Further Discussion

tion, when it comes election time?

Critics Report
Mr. Grey then criticized the report from the other angle, stating that the appropriations were lopsided, favoring the schools on the east side of the city, whereas in his opinion the majority of the children lived on the west side.

Mr. Grey then moved that the report be taken up and discussed item by item. His motion was seconded but not carried.

Richardson D. White, city superintendent of schools, took the floor and refuted Mr. Grey's statements. He stated that a city's bonding capacity is based not on its tax rate but on five per cent of its assessed valuation, after deducting all outstanding issues of bonds.

Following this refutation, George B. Woodbury rose and launched into what the chair deemed an attack on the educational policy of the city. He was ruled out of order but stated before taking his seat that though he might be out of order at that mass meeting, he would be in order when it came election time.

Many Make Talks
The meeting then developed into a series of short, pertinent talks by numerous members, both sides of the subject being discussed freely. From time to time the meeting to adjourn was made but failed to carry. Several of the speakers commented on the lack of information at the disposal of the committee.

It was this general lack of information, coupled with an obviously well-defined sentiment on the entire matter, that finally allowed a motion for adjournment to carry.

Committee Report
Following is, in part, the report of the Citizens' Committee of Fifteen:

"We have made a thorough investigation of school conditions and find that almost all schools are running beyond their normal capacity."

"In addition to this crowded condition we have found a lack of proper facilities for maintaining the schools in several different directions such as in the heating plants and toilet facilities."

"These unfortunate conditions are the direct result of the rapid growth of the city in the last five years and the difficulty of keeping up an adequate building program."

"This growth as shown by the school enrollment figures submitted herewith is nothing short of phenomenal."

"A glance at the figures will show that the school enrollment has grown 178 per cent in the last five years. That means that we are now two and three-quarters time as large as we were in 1917. During the same time our number of school rooms has grown from forty-eight to ninety-five, and of this latter number ten are portable bungalows."

Need More Money
"Thus while the enrollment is nearly three times as large as in 1917, the seating capacity is less than twice as large."

"The necessity for spending all available funds to provide additional classrooms and seats has resulted in a very natural inability to provide adequate sanitary accommodations and up-to-date heating plants."

"After the survey above mentioned had been made, your committee held a number of meetings with the Board of Education as well as several conferences with citizens living in different parts of the district, and as a result of these meetings and conferences we desire to submit the following tabulation of the needs of the various schools."

"We do not feel that this is a full, complete, and adequate program, but we do feel that it is the best that can be done in view of the present bonding capacity of the district."

The budget submitted by the committee is as follows: Acacia avenue, $49,050; Broadway, $32,650; Central avenue, $33,850; Cerritos and Magnolia avenue, combined, $31,500; Colorado boulevard, $33,250; Columbus avenue, $47,150; Doran street, $38,950; Glendale Avenue intermediate, $107,350; Grand View, $24,450; Pacific Avenue, $65,300; Verdugo Canyon, $13,000.

Glendale Dye Works Expanding Business

Such success has been enjoyed by Louis Delonco, proprietor of the Glendale Dye Works, 135 South Brand boulevard, that he is moving part of his business to 1015 South Brand boulevard, where he will open a second place of business.

The present store will be known as the Glendale Dye Works No. 1, and the other as Glendale Dye Works No. 2.

'HOLY' ARGUMENT HELD BY COUNCIL

Unguarded Hole Damaged His Auto, Says Resident; Asks Settlement

Whether a hole in a street could produce a hole in a tire which was already full of holes and cause a hole in the owner's pocketbook was the subject of a discussion last night by the City Council which was referred to the committee of the whole.

F. M. Edwards of 127 North Columbus was the writer of a communication which was read by City Clerk A. J. Van Wie requesting a settlement of $27.25 from the city treasury as the result of two tires on his automobile having been cut in dropping into an unguarded hole on East Broadway, December 1.

Councilman Sam Davis expressed a doubt that the tires had been in good condition, but Councilman A. H. Lapham verified the fact that they had been torn. Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson and Councilman C. E. Kimlin all took occasion to comment upon bad street holes. City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy was kept busy making memoranda.

RELATES HISTORY ABOUT ETCHING

Mrs. J. W. Cotton Tells of History of Art; Central P.-T. A. in Meet

(Continued from Page 1) scrutinized by the etcher and he makes more lines throughout the work to perfect his design, and the biting process is repeated and the plate finally completed. This repetition of the biting process results in the shading success.

"After the final biting the wax remaining on the plate is thoroughly removed and the plate is ready for a trial proof. This is always a test moment, for the artist is to see to what measure he has attained success. Oil painters can remove a mistaken line by another coat of paint and often a water-color artist can remedy a mistake, but a false line on an etching plate remains. One artist has said that one perfect line in an etching is worth ten lines gotten in other ways.

"After the trial proof, if the etcher sees some improvement that can be made by new lines or deeper ones the plate is rebitten. In producing the etchings a black printer's ink is used.

"There is a decided difference between line etchings and the aqua-tints, which are in color. More than one plate is required for the aqua-tints. When the plate is done, it is painted in colors with the artist's hand, which presses the colors into the lines. The plate work is not made on the wax base, but on what is known as a spirit or dust ground. It is more like a water-color work. The design is etched in masses.

"On the other hand in the line etchings we never find them done in colors. The satisfaction of an etching is that one can find a beauty in them that can't be found in anything else.

Limit to Number
"Another kind of line etching is the dry point etching, which is not bitten with acid, but the lines are made by the artist with a tool. The tool, in making the lines, leaves small burrs along the lines, which produce a soft effect. Only a few prints can be made from a dry-point plate.

"Some etchers have their line-plates steamed, that is, the plate is covered with a coating of steel, which, in no way, harms the beauty of the design.

"The etcher limits the number of proofs taken of his design, and each one is numbered, showing to which edition it belongs. The etcher also marks all of his etchings, his name either appearing in the corner of the design or just below. A signature, makes an etching of real value.

Business Meeting
Following Mrs. Cotton, Richard-son D. White spoke briefly, urging the members to attend the mass meeting last night at the Wilson Avenue intermediate school.

The association then had a short business meeting directed by Mrs. President, Mrs. D. F. Reichard. During this time the treasurer reported $96 in the treasury and that $50 had been paid on the new victrola. The old victrola has been given to the kindergarten. To raise the remaining $100 on the new instrument Mrs. Reichard announced that two food sales are to be held, with Mrs. J. S. Dickerson and Mrs. J. H. Burris in charge. The first by Mrs. Dickerson's team will take place Saturday, January 27.

Extends Invitation
Mrs. A. A. Barton was present and extended an invitation to members to attend the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, meeting each week at the public library.

Two vocal numbers by Mrs. Helen Graham Cole, accompanied by Mrs. George Horne, were enjoyed. She sang "Memories" (Cadenman) and "Nothin' But Love" (Bond).

One of the interesting events of the afternoon was an instructive talk by Miss L. N. Woolridge, instructor of home economics at the Glendale Avenue Intermediate school. She spoke on school lunches, and an account of her talk will be found in another column of The News.

In closing, a rising vote of thanks was taken for John W. Cotton for the art collection.

ARTHUR BURCH IN COURT YESTERDAY

Visits Chamber of Judge Lowe With Witness in Collision Case

An innovation in the routine monotony of police court procedure was introduced yesterday in Judge F. H. Lowe's court when some real dramatic atmosphere was offered by the presence of Arthur Burch, prominent recently in the Belton Kennedy murder trial in Los Angeles, who visited Glendale yesterday with a witness subpoenaed in the Miller-Beauchamp case.

Dressed in a khaki outfit suit and hiking boots and hatless, Burch presented a very carefree attitude as he hurried into the city hall with his companion. He sat and listened to the Miller-Beauchamp arguments and finally with a broad smile, left.

According to reports the man with Burch is his employer and was subpoenaed as a witness in the case, but was not called.

News of Burch's presence at the trial hall spread quickly and a-hall employees and visitors.

CONTRACTOR GETS TIME EXTENSION

City Council Gives P. Ferry Ninety Days to Finish Street Work

An extension of ninety days with which to complete street work now under way was granted Contractor Peter L. Ferry of 614 East Acacia avenue last night by the City Council.

"I wish an extension of ninety days to complete my contract on Ben Lomond, Arden and other streets on account of the rainy weather," stated Mr. Ferry's communication, which was read by City Clerk A. J. Van Wie. "It is not advisable to lay the pavement until after the rainy season."

This request was approved by City Engineer Ben P. Dupuy. City Manager W. H. Reeves stated that he had received a very vigorous verbal protest against delaying this work. Motion was made by Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson that Mr. Ferry's request be granted.

She has resided in Glendale for fourteen years and has a splendid background for local realty knowledge.

The construction company located in the Yale offices has moved and the entire room will be given over to the development of the realty business under the direction of Mrs. Osborne.

THEATRES

The Glendale

"Keep your eye on Johnnie Walker" is the greeting of the Glendale theatre in the announcement of the showing of "My Dad" today and tomorrow with Johnnie Walker in the title role.

It is a film masterpiece dedicated to all the "dads" throughout the entire world.

It's the story of Tom O'Day who lived with his father and mother at a trading post in the Canadian Northwest. Racing dog teams, lonely trails, wilderness-maddened men, vast snows, wild storm and tremendously dramatic situations combine to give an atmosphere of striking realism.

The T. D. & L.

Wallace Reid's latest picture "Thirty Days" is the attraction at the T. D. & L. theatre today and it is being shown at the regular admission prices.

This is one of Wally's best, a typical Reid story done in his usually clever style and promises two hours of entertainment for those seeing it.

Wesley Barry's "Heroes of the Street" will be seen at the T. D. & L. on Sunday. This picture has just completed a popular run in Los Angeles.

Social Events

Missionary Meet

The January meeting of the Foreign Missionary society of the Casa Verdugo Methodist Episcopal church was held last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cotton, 1137 San Rafael avenue. After devotional exercises, the president, Mrs. E. E. Masters, conducted the business session.

Rev. J. C. Livingston read the study chapter from the year book which is on India. Dr. Julius Soper gave some very interesting personal reminiscences of his sojourn in that country a number of years ago.

Mrs. Lennox gave a report on general work of the society. Other numbers on the program were vocal selections by Mrs. Cotton, "Song of India" and "Sweet Story of Old," and a reading by Mrs. R. D. Jones, illustrated with tableaux in which parts were taken by Martha Jones, Loraine Masters, Elinor Harris and Ruth Koenig.

A social hour followed the close of the program and light refreshments were served.

CALL SAND TRUCK TAX 'EXCESSIVE'

H. J. McIntyre Takes Case Before City Council; Hearing Later

Objection to the payment of a license for operating a truck to haul sand was made last night to the City Council by H. J. McIntyre, 1248 East California avenue, who called attention to the fact that trucks engaged in the business of hauling sand are the only vehicles taxed by the municipality.

Mr. McIntyre said that he owned his own truck and that most of his associates in this business owned their trucks, and that the license fee of $10 a quarter or $40 a year seemed excessive under the circumstances. He stated that this charge was higher than that charged by Los Angeles. He said that if he had to pay at the same rate every time he went to a new town on a job, he would be obliged to pay several hundred dollars a year for licenses.

Don't Hurt Roads
On account of the broad tires on the trucks in this line of work, they do not sink into the asphalt and make ruts, according to Mr. McIntyre. He said that his truck had been operating on Verdugo road for a year and a half and had not caused a single rut.

Councilman A. H. Lapham, together with other members of the council, agreed that this tax against trucks hauling sand should either be abolished or a uniform tax imposed upon all trucks operated within the city limits.

The matter was referred to the committee of the whole for further discussion.

'HI' BASKETBALL TEAMS PRACTICE

Boys Working Into Form for Championship Games Late in Season

The basketball teams of the Intermediate schools are working hard in practice toward the championship games that are scheduled later in the season. A practice game between the middle-weight teams Thursday on the grounds at Glendale avenue was disappointing to the home school as the boys from Wilson rolled up a score of 25 to 2. Allen Lovell and Charles Chitty starred for Wilson, with one basket to the credit of Glendale.

Jack Fleming made the lone score for Glendale avenue. F. E. Hanson is coach for Wilson and Floyd McMaster for Glendale. The lightweight teams played off on Wednesday with Wilson winning, 19 to 2.

The early hours were devoted to a game of Five Hundred, in which Mrs. M. A. Donnelly made high score and was awarded the ladies' prize, a fine pair of embroidery scissors. Richey Jones captured the gentlemen's prize, a handsome pocket knife. The occasion, which will be in the nature of a "tamale supper," is the regular quarterly entertainment given by the local organization in honor of the Los Angeles and Pasadena lodges.

GATEWAY MARKET PROVING POPULAR

Manager Caswell Announces
Big Business Increase;
Open New Agency

That residents of South Glendale are more and more appreciating shopping facilities within easy walking distance, is attested by the steadily increasing patronage at the Gateway Market, according to Manager Caswell. He says that despite the fact that his market has been open only a few short months, its business has grown and grown until on week-end days it resembles a down town market in appearance. The market comprises a meat, grocery, delicatessen, fruit, vegetable and bakery department, and a lunch counter. Every possible assistance to make shopping easy for the patrons of the store is maintained. The market now boasts a new fruit and vegetable department, under the management of B. M. Goodman and A. Fine. Both of these men are long experienced in the produce business and both announce they will strive to give the patrons of the Gateway Market excellent service. Only the freshest and best quality fruits and vegetables will be carried in stock, they say. A free delivery system has also been installed for the convenience of customers.

LOS FELIZ ROAD WORK DISCUSSED

City Council Is Told Small
Crew Hampers Progress;
Will Investigate

Delay in the paving of Los Feliz road was the subject of a short discussion last night by the city council.

City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy reported that the work was now going forward faster and that the stretch of road between the Southern Pacific and San Fernando road would be open to traffic in a short time. Dr. J. G. Klein of Los Angeles, who is the owner of property on Los Feliz road, sent in a communication stating that he had received numerous complaints from his tenants in regard to the delay in this work. "While they feel that the work is necessary," he wrote, "the consensus of opinion seems to be that because so few men are employed that it is not being handled with any degree of efficiency." Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson moved that the delay be referred to City Manager W. H. Reeves for further investigation.

Vassar, Will Be Sold
Monday Morning

An opportunity will be afforded those who are desirous of securing a beautiful home in the residential district of Glendale, when the modern six room bungalow of Mr. Gaw, at 1900 East Vassar street, corner of Princeton avenue, is offered for sale at auction next Monday, January 15, at 11 a. m.

This is a new bungalow on a corner lot, 50x100, with lovely lawn and shrubbery, and will make an ideal home for someone. Owing to the popularity existing at present in "The Modern Way of Selling," which is at auction, Mr. Gaw has authorized B. O. McCormick & Company, of 628 North Western avenue, Los Angeles, to sell this very desirable home at public auction on Monday.

The property will be open to the public for inspection any evening and all day Sunday.

LIGHTING TAX IS BEING PROTESTED

Fifty Residents Complain to City Council; M. B. Jones
Is Spokesman

A protest against assessments to pay for the electricity used in the Brand boulevard lighting system was made last night at the meeting of the City Council.

The session was attended by forty or fifty interested property owners. Attorney Mattison B. Jones acted as their spokesman.

According to report, protestants base their protest solely on the allegation that the ornamental lights were installed by the property owners after the city administration had promised to pay the expense of their maintenance and operation. Date for a public hearing on the subject was set by the council for January 29.

Money spent in Glendale helps to make Glendale a bigger and better city.

PLAY VISUALIZES MISSIONARY LIFE

Women's Union of Baptist Church Presented With Unique Entertainment

The Women's union of the First Baptist church of Glendale held its regular all-day meeting in the church yesterday. Sewing started at 10 o'clock.

A luncheon was served at noon, after which a program was put on by Mrs. F. H. Boynton, who had charge of the entertainment. This program was in the nature of a missionary playlet, and called "Village Life in India."

While the playlet was being presented, Mrs. J. Ray Bentley played "Temple Bells," from the "Indian Love Lyrics," adding greatly to the charm and atmosphere of the piece.

This playlet proved so effective that it will be repeated at the Union's meeting next Wednesday night, announces Mrs. E. E. Ford, president.

Adventists to Hold Service in School

The Seventh-day Adventist church, corner of Isabel and California avenue, is undergoing some interior improvements. For that reason the regular service will be held in the Third street school tomorrow, January 13. The school building is located on Wilson street, between Kenwood and Jackson. There will be Sabbath school at 9:30 and preaching by the pastor at 10:45. All are invited and will be made comfortable.

Girls' League to Hold Football Fete

The annual football banquet will be served in the high school cafeteria on the evening of January 26, according to an announcement made by Miss Helen Sherwood, president of the girls' league. This organization is expected to follow its regular custom and make this event one never to be forgotten by the members of this season's light weight and heavy weight teams, and other invited guests.

WILL E. CHAPIN'S LECTURE TONIGHT

Prominent Writer to Talk
On 'Advertising' at Odd
Fellows' Hall

Will E. Chapin's lecture on "Art in Advertising," to be given in the Odd Fellows' hall, 201-A West Broadway, instead of the Chamber of Commerce auditorium as at first planned, tonight at 8 o'clock, should be well attended by the business men of this city as they will thereby have an opportunity of hearing the fundamental principles that underlie all high class advertising expounded by an acknowledged expert of long experience, it is declared.

All successful business is built up today on judicious advertising and fortunes are thrown away annually by those who do not understand how to spend their money in this direction.

Well Informed
Mr. Chapin's career has covered a long experience in the literary, artistic and business phases of this interesting subject, and what he has to say will be well worth listening to, it is asserted.

In answer to requests he will supplement his lecture with a "chalk talk" on "Character From a Cartoonist's Standpoint." This will especially interest the women. As Mr. Chapin made a national reputation as cartoonist for a Los Angeles newspaper, this talk will prove of especial interest, it is believed.

Through the courtesy of the Glendale Realty Board this entertainment is free to the public.

SECURES SUCCESS WITH HARD WORK

Henry Walsma Proves That 'Nothing Can Succeed Like Hustle'

Henry Walsma, of the Fancy Bakery, is a living exponent of the theory that nothing succeeds like hustle. Mr. Walsma has learned that success in business does not come by chance but by constantly plugging away day in and day out.

Mr. Walsma has been in the baking business in Glendale for a matter of seven or eight years, with the exception of a year or two that he and Mrs. Walsma spent in Europe, and he has won the confidence of the people of Glendale as well as their esteem.

A superior quality of all kinds of baked goods and being constantly on the job are the elements that have led to Mr. Walsma's success.

Bakeries may come and bakeries may go, but Mr. Walsma is always to be found at the old stand.

Europe's Finances Continue to Slump

LONDON, Jan. 12. — Europe's finances, from bad, are going to worse, rapidly.

It was recently pointed out that of seventeen European nations only three, Denmark, Great Britain and Yugoslavia, are paying expenses.

Since then, for want of a remedy, the French and Belgian francs and the German mark have slumped heavily. Only one encouraging sign has been noted in Europe, the overthrow of the Italian government in favor of the new Fascist regime which at least has promised ruthless cutting of expenses.

The slump in the mark is due to the reparations question; Germany's unwillingness to pay, combined with inability to pay after four years of French haggling and nagging, in great part justified as regards amount if not the manner.

The slump in the franc is due both to reparations, upon the receipt of which France relies to "balance" her budget, and to the situation in the Near East, a new complication by which France stands to lose important concessions gained from the Kemalists.

So far no way out has been found. Statesmen are trying to settle the Near East question and avoid a war which could easily be the fatal blow to Europe's economic system, if not to European civilization itself.

Jugo-Slavia is trying to rush through parliament an $800,000,000 dinar appropriation bill to prepare for possible war in the Near East.

Germany is continuing to print money which is becoming as worthless as the Russian rouble.

France is continuing to list heavy illusory reparations payments on the credit side.

Poland is encountering internal troubles, particularly in Eastern Galicia, which Poland wishes to annex.

Austria, absolutely at rock bottom, is starting what may be a new lease of life with the help of the rest of Europe.

The neutral countries in Europe which were enriched during the war, are suffering because poverty of their ex-belligerent neighbors prevents their trading.

Pavlowa Wins Heart Of Japan and China

SHANGHAI, Jan. 12. — Pavlowa has won the hearts of hundreds of Japanese and Chinese maidens while on her tour of the Far East.

The fair maid of the Orient who attended the various performances given by the famous dancer and her ballet sat entranced throughout her entertainments.

In Japan, according to visitors from the Flowery Kingdom, word went out from the highest circles that it was "the thing" to see the great foreign dancer. Consequently Japan went en masse and sat with polite faces through every performance.

Pavlowa is keenly interested in the women of the Orient and visited the government and mission schools of Japan to see the gorgeous kimonos.

In Shanghai the Chinese maidens were just as interested. They attended performance after performance, for Pavlowa was opening a new world to them.

During her stay here she visited the physical culture school of the Young Women's Christian Association and praised the American women for their splendid work.

The Chinese girls, without bound feet, are keen for sports, games and folk dances. Before her departure Pavlowa gave a substantial gift to the school to further its work.

AMERICAN LEGION GETS WAR FUNDS

Ohio Court Gives Posts in State Control of Chest Worth Thousands

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 12. — Impetus has been given the American Legion's efforts to control the millions of dollars left over in war chest funds, and it is predicted that the Legion will win 100 per cent of its cases, following the decision of the Ohio Court of Appeals as announced by Gilbert Bettman, department commander of Ohio, through the national headquarters.

The Court of Appeals decision turns over to the Legion posts of Ohio the principal of a war chest fund involving $54,000. This is the third victory for the Legion in such cases. These cases establish precedents for the collection by the Legion of the residue of money accumulated by various organizations during the war for the benefit of soldiers, sailors and marines then in the fighting forces.

Liberal Decision The higher court has made the Legion's stand stronger than ever, by holding the Legion to bear the same relation to the World War as did the Grand Army of the Republic to the Civil War.

Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant of the Legion, explained the nationwide effects of the decision: "The course has even gone beyond the Legion's requests in that the trustees of the lower court asked that the fund be held for ten years and the income used under supervision of the American Legion for ten years, then the principal be turned over to the Legion."

The Court of Appeals, however, voluntarily held that the principal of the fund in question be forthwith distributed to the American Legion posts of the state, at the same time adding that the United States government would take care of the disabled.

Fund Is Preserved The two lower court decisions establishing the Legion's right to these funds, were in Athens county, Ohio, tried in Cincinnati, and at Vevay, Indiana, the latter involving a $5000 fund. In the Indiana case the trustees were attempting to use the $5000 for a county nurse. They were enjoined by the court from such use, and the money was given to trustees designated by the Legion for the purpose of erecting club houses for the local Legion posts which would stand as permanent war memorials in the county.

These court actions, inaugurated by Mr. Bettman and successfully carried through, were followed by a bulletin to all department commanders of the United States from the national adjutant, who concluded: "The money is yours—go get it."

Philippine Senate Votes Hospital Fund

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 12. — The Philippine senate has voted $15,000 to each of the forty-eight provinces for establishment of hospitals. This was one of the most urgent of Governor-General Wood's recommendations, as less than a half dozen hospitals exist outside of Manila.

Senate Leader Gasmata also succeeded in retaining the positions of 120 American high school teachers after the education committee had favored abolishing their work which would have seriously curtailed secondary education.

Revolution Breaks Out in East Prussia

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. — A revolution has broken out in the Memel district of East Prussia, simultaneously with the French occupation of the Ruhr, according to a dispatch made public by the Lithuanian legation here.

The revolutionists' committee, the dispatch said, favors splitting off from Germany and becoming either a Free State or an integral part of Lithuania.

The MUCKER

by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Billy Byrne would have asserted with some show of asperity that he was nothing if not American; but Bridge was quick to see a possible loophole for escape for his friend in Pesita's belief that Billy was no gringo, and warned the latter to silence by a quick motion of his head.

"He's from 'Gran' Avenoo," he said. "It is not exactly in Germany; but there are a great many Germans there. My friend is a native, so he doesn't speak German or English either—they have a language of their own in 'Gran' Avenoo."

"I see," said Pesita—"a German colony. I like the Germans—they furnish me with much ammunition and rifles. They are my very good friends. Take Miguel and the gringo away"—this to the soldiers who had brought the prisoners to him—"I will speak further with this man from Gran-Avenoo."

When the others had passed out of hearing Pesita addressed Billy.

"I am sorry, señor," he said, "that you have been put to so much inconvenience. My men could not know that you were not a gringo; but I can make it all right. I will make it all right. You are a big man. The gringos have chased you from their country as they chased me. I hate them. You hate them. But enough of them. You have no business in Mexico except to seek work. I give you work. You are like a bull. You are strong. You are like a bull. You stay with me, señor, and I make you captain. I need men what can talk some English and look like gringos. You do fine. We make much money—you and I. We make it all time while we liberate my poor Mexico. When Mexico liberate we fight some more to liberate her again. The Germans they give me much money to liberate Mexico, and there are other ways of getting much money when one is riding around through rich country with soldiers liberating his poor, bleeding country. Sabes?"

"Yes, I guess I savvy," said Billy, "and it listens all right to me as far as your's gone. My pal in on it?"

"Eh?"

"You make my friend a captain, too?"

Pesita held up his hands and rolled his eyes in holy horror. Take a gringo into his band? It was unthinkable.

"He shot," he cried. "I swear to kill all gringo. I become savvy."

"You got it in for Mig fer?" asked Billy. "He's a harmless sort of guy."

"He Villista Villista with gringos run Mexico—gringos and the church. Just like Huerta would have done it if they'd given him a chance, only Huerta more for church than for gringos."

"Aw, let the poor boob go. I'll let you go, but you got a wife and kids—you wouldn't want to leave them without no one to look after in this God-forsaken country?"

Pesita grinned indulgently.

"Very well, Señor Captain," he said, bowing low. "I let Miguel and your honorable friend go. I send safe escort with them."

"Butly fer you, of pot!" exclaimed Billy, and Pesita smiled delightedly in the belief that some complimentary title had been applied to him in the language of "Gran-Avenoo." "I'll go an' tell 'em," said Billy.

"Yes," said Pesita, "and say to them that they will start early in the morning."

As Billy turned and walked in the direction that the soldiers had beckoned to a soldier who leaned upon his gun at a short distance from his "general"—a heretofore, slovenly attempt at a head-quarters orderly.

"Send Captain Rozales to me," directed Pesita.

Daily NewsLetter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Edward Phillips writes of New York's "curb merchants."

TOMORROW—Alice Langlois, Paris, quotes the slogan of the new Casino de Paris, a theatre, as "Better than America!"

For International News Service NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—A merry little game of hide-and-seek is being played about the corners of Wall street's staid and solemn money temple, as strange a background for childlike pastime as one is wont to find.

The actors in this queer comedy are adults. The conflicting forces—necessary fundamentals for an entertaining drama—the curbstone merchant and the much abused policeman.

It has to do with business, and speed is the ulterior motive—speed of transaction on the part of the customer and speed of foot on the part of the merchant.

The street factor, so far as the territory that extends westward beyond the Hudson river is concerned, is almost a thing of the past. But not so in New York. Here he is still with us, accompanied with unending supplies of painless toothache gum, mending cement and patented knife-fencing tape—these things all in one. Gothamites in droves, they who have everything to make for a blaze and tiring existence, still fall for his suave and oily words.

The fakirs' happy hunting ground is Father Knickerbocker's financial district, lower Manhattan. They would rather speak to a crowd of Wall street habitués than to the greenest of provincials. Al Baker, who has sold everything from paring knives to extracts of malt along Nassau street for the last ten years and has been chased by more cops than King King's oldest pickpocket said: "The guys down here fall for it the easiest."

Asked why, Al replied: "I don't know; they just do, that's all."

Enter the policeman. The New York curb merchant never bothers about procuring a license to give him legal right to reap profit from the sale of Dr. Bankem's Famous Rattlesnake Salve. It's easier to get away with it, they say, when a fellow is fast on his feet.

They carry their wares in old suitcases and find their locations, usually, in front of stately looking skyscrapers and begin their ballyhooing. It isn't long before the crowds gather. Human beings are the same on Broad street as they are in Clear Water, Mass.

"Gents, I've got here the greatest little thing on the market. The famous Empire Patented Key Ring. Holds twenty different keys and guaranteed not to break, rip, tear or stretch the pocket."

The words flow on, but the eyes are swifter than the tongue. They scan the horizon—east, west, north and south. A blue, brass-buttoned figure looms up from around a corner. A snatch of the suitcase and the curb merchant is flashing off and losing himself in the crowd. He finds another spot several blocks away devoid of blue and begins all over again.

"It doesn't mean anything," said Lou Mosher, another one of the "association."

The cops are not bad sports. They only work under orders.

He was vending knitted ties, "sixty-nine cents a throw." A prospective customer stood next to him examining a pseudo-silk cravat to make sure he wasn't going to be beaten in the transaction. Lou looked toward Broadway and caught the gleam of brass buttons. He seized the tie from the startled customer's hands and made a hasty retreat, coat tails and suitcase flying in the wind. The would-be customer moved on with a chuckle. Such is the life of a business man.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY IS LOST

Nurse Jane turned around from where she was looking from a window of the hollow stump bungalow. She saw Uncle Wiggily just starting out with his pink twinkling nose and his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch that she had gnawed for him out of a cornstalk.

"Uncle Wiggily!" squeaked the muskrat lady housekeeper, "you aren't going out, are you?"

"Why not?" asked the bunny rabbit.

"Because we're going to have a snow storm," went on Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "You'll be caught in the storm and may be lost."

"Oh no, I guess nothing like that!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I'm too old a rabbit, and I've lived around here too many years to be lost. I'm not afraid, Nurse Jane. Thank you for being worried about me, but, after all, I don't believe it will snow."

"Yes it will," said Nurse Jane. "And it did. Uncle Wiggily had not been hopping around very long, looking for an adventure (which is what he went after) when some white flakes began falling down."

"Maybe that's only Mother Goose picking her chickens to make pillows for," he said to himself. But just then a cold flake of snow fell on his pink nose, melting there and making a little cold, shivery spot. "I guess it is snowing," said Uncle Wiggily. And then the white flakes came down in a swirling storm.

"Oh, well! I know my way even in a storm," thought Mr. Longears. So, putting his hat firmly on his head, making sure that his pink, twinkling nose hadn't fallen off and taking a good hold of his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch, Uncle Wiggily went out.

The snow came down thicker and faster until he could hardly see five feet away, and then Uncle Wiggily began to think that he had been a bit foolish.

"I'll turn around and go back to my warm hollow stump bungalow," he said. "I've had adventures enough in this storm. But going back was easier said than done, for now the snow was quite deep, and though the bunny leaped and jumped, it was hard work. For his feet, having no snow shoes on them, sank deep into the soft drifts."

At last the snow was so high that it was over Uncle Wiggily's head, and he could go no farther. There he was—lost in the storm!

But Uncle Wiggily was brave. So, instead of sitting down and crying, he said to himself, "The tears would only freeze on my face and how funny I would look!" So he went on through the snow. Uncle Wiggily pushed until at last he could push no farther. He thought he had perhaps run against the side of his bungalow, but when he scraped some snow away he found that he had come up to a big pile of cornstalks. "I'll burrow under the pile of cornstalks and stay until the storm is over," thought the rabbit.

He was rustling his way through the pile of dried corn under the snow, when all of a sudden a voice called:

"Who is there?"

"It is I, Uncle Wiggily," answered the bunny. "Who are you?"

"We are Curly and Floppy Twinstall, the piggy boys," came the grunting answer. "And we're glad you aren't the Fox."

"So am I!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, who was now inside the bundle of stalks. "But how did you get here?"

"We are lost and we wandered in here," said Curly. Then he

HERE'S A REAL 'LEAGUE OF NATIONS' FAMILY

St. Paul, Minn., lays claim to having the most unique family in the world, consisting of all girls, sisters and two guardians. Fifteen years ago the Reiff sisters, Misses Minna and Henryette, had a spacious and comfortable home that they did not know what to do with it. They adopted a little German orphan girl, and found the experiment so interesting that they adopted three little Scotch girls. After that, one by one, other orphans found a home with the Reiff sisters, until now the little family numbers nine girls, representing Germany, France, Scotland, Finland, Bohemia and Canada, and, of course, the United States.

WIFE DOUBTS HER HUSBAND'S DEATH

Woman Cannot Be Convinced Her 'Dickie Boy'
Committed Suicide

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 12.—Despite the fact that Mrs. Richard B. Runyon, pretty 17-year-old bride and erstwhile high school student, has received a suicide note from her husband and that nothing has been heard of him since his sudden departure from his home here more than a month ago, she vehemently insists that her "Dickie Boy" is still alive. Her missing 20-year-old husband was a former student at Beloit college, Beloit, Wis. The youthful wife hails from "Sunny Tennessee."

In a two-page farewell letter, which Mrs. Runyon received from her husband shortly after his disappearance, he wrote: "I have perpetually deceived you since our marriage. I have been gambling and I have lost all of my money—and my overcoat and hat to boot. And to think I was cad enough to tell you I had been winning!" the girl bride quoted her husband as saying.

Made Death Threat

Continuing, she said the letter read: "I am tired of it all, and I am going to tie a weight around my body and jump into the river. By the time you get this I will be dead. Goodbye!" "Your Worthless Husband."

The letter, which blasted the short romance of the youthful couple, was postmarked "Kansas City" and was received at the home of one of Runyon's friends, where the pair had rented rooms. Runyon eloped with his sweet-heart from her home at Nashville, Tenn., to Henderson, Ky. From there they came to this city, where the young bridegroom secured a position. He resigned this, however, after a short time.

"Dickie Boy" was always so good to me," Mrs. Runyon explained to inquirers between sobs. "He treated me wonderfully kind. He told me before our marriage that he had had a nervous breakdown while attending college two years ago. I feel positive that he has suffered a relapse due to his former illness and has wandered off in a mental aberration."

Believes He Lives
"I know that my husband is not dead. He will return to me as soon as his mental fog clears." The child wife has abandoned her search for "Dickie Boy" for the present and has announced her intention of returning "home to mother" in the near future. Her father, E. C. Wright, is a well-known merchant at Nashville and is said to be wealthy. The daughter's elopement had been forgiven, and the new son-in-law had been graciously accepted as a member of the family, according to Mrs. Wright, who rushed here to assist her when she learned of Runyon's disappearance.

Felt Incompetence

Runyon is understood to have felt keenly his inability to provide his wife with a home which would equal in comfort the one she had fled. Neither the Missouri nor the "Kaw" river has been dragged for the missing body, and it is pointed out that the wife and her family place slight credence in the husband's suicide threat. On the other hand, it is believed, they are of the opinion that the youth had merely shouldered too much responsibility and after the realization struck him had decided to bury his identity for a time. Police stated they would continue the search with unabated vigor.

Disabled 'Sub' S-19

Bound to Bermuda

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The submarine S-19, which was disabled when the engine room was flooded by water used to extinguish a fire, is being towed to Bermuda by a submarine tender, the navy department was advised today. The S-19 was not badly damaged.

Fear Civil War If Germany Is Coerced

LONDON, Jan. 12.—"I believe that if the allies pursue a brutal, coercive policy toward Germany civil war in that country cannot possibly be averted. A hungry people will not adhere to any government."

Dr. Alice Salomon, head of the Social Study school in Berlin, and a prominent German writer on social questions, who has just completed a lecture tour in England, gave this as her considered opinion in an interview with International News Service.

"Conditions in Germany among lower and middle class families were appalling. Children were half fed and half clothed, and the necessity of buying a pair of boots in such families was a calamity," said Dr. Salomon.

"Thousands of young girls are solving the problem of making a living by going into domestic service in Holland, where they can earn as much as the highest-paid cabinet minister in Germany."

"In my opinion serious riots are inevitable among the working classes throughout the winter, and, if the allies continue to press for payment, civil war must beget chaos."

"If civil war comes," continued Dr. Salomon, "it will resolve itself into a vast struggle between the town and country areas, for the vast rural population will certainly refuse provisions to the industrial areas, and the towns would be overrun within a few weeks, and nothing could prevent the war spreading to the frontiers, to the imminent danger of the small border states."

Fight Tuberculosis With Turtle Serum

RENO, Jan. 12.—Turtle serum as a weapon against the great white plague will be produced on a large scale, with Nevada as a great breeding ground for turtles of the dry-land variety, it is announced simultaneously with the filing of papers of incorporation at the capital, Carson City, for the California Physicians' Laboratories, Inc.

The work has been brought to the United States again after extensive experiments in Mexico at Mazatlan, where, it is declared, it was demonstrated to the scientific world that the turtle is immune to all human diseases. Dr. Martini Damourette, who conducted research work in a number of countries of both hemispheres, experimented with turtles in Mexico on a special concession of land by former President Diaz. He is one of those interested in the present project. Revolutions hindered his plans in Mexico.

The use of turtle serum in combating tuberculosis is confidently expected by those interested in the present enterprise to prove the long-sought means of ending the dread disease. Attorney F. J. Blake, of San Francisco, filed the papers.

American's Missing Wife Dead In London

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Detectives have solved the mystery surrounding the disappearance from Liverpool last June of Mrs. Hilda Middleton, wife of an American ship captain, when they discovered the woman's body concealed in the bathroom of the home of Cecil Maltby, a tailor. The body showed no signs of violence. Maltby shot himself, dying half an hour later, when police broke into his home where he had barricaded himself for five days. Maltby was known to have been a friend of Mrs. Middleton.

Mrs. Middleton's body was nude when found. Police declared she had been dead several days. The woman's husband is said to be the captain of a United States ship-boarding vessel.

ACTOR LIVES HIS ROLE AS REALITY

Olga Chekhova, Wife of Late
Playwright, Says This Idea Brings Fame

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service,
PARIS, Jan. 12.—"Russian art and literature are at the crossroads. Nobody knows which direction they are going to take." This is the opinion of Olga Chekhova, widow of Anton Chekhov, the Russian playwright. "Naturally the revolution has released many art and literary tendencies, the existence of which were scarcely suspected a few years ago."

It was behind the scenes of the Champs Elysees theatre that Olga Chekhova, during the performance of Gorki's play, "The Depths," I asked this actress, as famous in Russia as her husband is known to the rest of the world, what is the secret of the Russian theatre's talented cast. Although they understood not a word of the language, dozens of American tourists in the audience, between the acts, were proclaiming this performance of a Russian play the most realistically acted piece they had ever seen.

Don't Play Outward

"Most actors play outward," Madame Chekhova explained. "Most actors play to a greater or lesser extent to the audience. We play to each other. The audience doesn't exist for us. There is no difference or distinction between a rehearsal and a public performance. We study our roles, the characters, and study them for months before we start on the play. We study the psychology of the character we are to play until we can live the part, until we know that character so well that we know what the person would do in any situation that might arise—until we could live that character off the stage as well as on it."

"Let me show you something. I'll show you realism for a traveling company. It's what you Americans call takes the biscuit—I used to live in New York, you know—takes the biscuit. There's realism. We've lugged those all the way from Moscow and must cart them back again."

She pointed to ten full-sized church bells mounted in a portable belfry.

SPEAKING OF AUTOMOBILES

Speaking of automobiles, surely one did, isn't it interesting to find in a while in our matter-of-fact acceptance of one of the latest material miracles in an age of miracles, and think about development and changes in the automobile industry in the twenty-two or twenty-three years, since we stood on the sidewalk and gawked at our first automobile and told the folks at home about automobiles and their changes and developments, was a very bright green car, coming toward me in a line of cars. All the other cars were dark. Four-fifths of them, could say, were black, the rest were dark colors hardly distinguishable from black. What a dual but complete change that from a day not so long ago when now green and maroon and blue and even scarlet cars were run of the mill!

The Higher the Better

Of course the change in outline has been almost as marked. We are digging through the attic the other day and found some old pictures of the year 1902. The pictures were simply fascinating, especially the pictures of automobiles with pompous, large, sleeved ladies, dressed aloft in them. Apparent distinction then resided in height. And, oh, the funny little things in front! One of us who looked at the pictures could remember sitting in one such seat over the engine, in front of the driver, who guided the car not with a wheel but with a lever. If you have a slow party your hands some evening, dig up these pictures, turn to the advertising pages and see if it doesn't start conversation.

$12,000 or $15,000 for a Car!

One particularly interesting thing about the automobile industry is that when automobiles were first being manufactured no one thought people would pay the prices they are now willing to pay for the higher priced cars. If the manufacturers had been told that people would come to pay as much for a luxurious car as a fine large house then cost, how astonished they would have been!

Of course the cutting down on the cost of production so that cars have become a possession of the masses instead of the classes, is a remarkable thing. Think of the people who now own cars who would never have dreamed in the old days of being able to keep a horse and carriage. According to recent statistics, there are 11,000,000 cars in the United States, only a million less than there are phonographs and 2,000,000 more than there are telephones.

A New Engine for $25

One of the latest miracles in automobile lore is the prophecy of the patron saint of flivver owners that the day may come when every family in the United States can afford to own an automobile and when the engine will be so cheap that a man may take his engine to the nearest station and for $25 exchange it for a new one.

We laugh at that. But it is dangerous to laugh at any prophecy of what inventive genius can accomplish.

A man I know was reading the newspapers and magazines of the early nineties to get a background for a story he was going to write. In one of the newspapers he found a list of inventions with the most important invention of the year distinguished was something to do with the control of ships. Yet that was the year when the basic patent of the gasoline engine was taken out.

An interesting commentary on the ability of any age to prophesy the mechanical development of the next!

BEAUTY CHATS

CHOCOLATE CREAM COMPLEXIONS

The best way to spoil a beautiful skin is to eat between meals, and to overeat of sweet things. When I say chocolate cream complexion I am lumping under one phrase the soda water counter complexion, which is pimply, the pie and cake complexion which is (and no joke is meant in this serious business) doughy, and the and spoils the prettiest of skins. If you have a passion for candy, eat it after a meal, it will digest more easily and satisfy as readily your general craving for sweets.

After all, this craving for something intensely sweet is quite natural. Sugar is highly stimulating and many of us are so made that our systems demand this stimulation from food. It needn't be encouraged any more than a similar and more highly developed craving, that is, a craving for alcohol, should be encouraged.

It is found usually in two classes of people, those whose diet lacks something vital, and those who have pumped themselves so their stomachs rule their lives on starch, unbalanced diets, and fat women, crave candy, and these normally healthy, like it now and then without feeling any actual need of it. But be careful. Eat it if you like but be careful that you don't eat it too often, or in quantities sufficiently great to spoil your pretty complexion.

Louise L. T.:—As you did not give me your age I cannot say whether or not your weight is correct; 130 pounds would be the weight of a woman 45 at five feet and two inches height. With a fair skin, blue eyes and light brown hair, your best choice in colors will be browns and blues darker than your eyes or hair.

Harriet D.:—Cocoa butter is very nourishing in a massage, but it should not be used on the face or any part of the neck where there could be a tendency to grow hair. The reason why it sometimes has this tendency is the fact that it is a heavy vegetable oil.

Tomorrow—Fallacies

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, and to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

'Miss Wyoming' Is Now Mrs. Fremke

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 12.—The west's trademark is stolen, and all the west can do is laugh it off and offer congratulations. No one has pillooned the Rockies or Great Salt Lake, or the Yellowstone, but the little god of romance has made off with the spured, booted, leather-skirted and sombreroed human trademark of the range country. "Miss Wyoming" is a bride.

Introduced to the country at first as the beautiful cowgirl of the state of Wyoming's widely published official poster announcing the silver anniversary of its famous frontier days rodeo three years ago, "Miss Wyoming" became a national celebrity a year later, when, as her state's official courier, she went east bearing its invitations to the president, governors of many states and mayors of many great cities. She was received at the White House, entertained as one of them by the country's notables and feted by the nation's wealthiest. Through it all she remained the unspoiled western maid.

It was in New York, at the height of her fame, that she declared she liked eastern men, but that when she chose a husband, it would be a son of the great west. "Because," said she, "when a western man tells you something he has his brand on it and means what he says."

When handsome young Joseph Kremke, prominent railroad official of Laramie, Wyo., told her something, she proved that not only the men but the women of the west, as well, "mean what they say." She believed him, and she's Mrs. Kremke now and radiantly happy over it.

COUNCIL TABLE

QUESTION: Should the rug and picture of the living room be of same color?

ANSWER: Not necessarily. However, it is very necessary that the two harmonize. For instance, very bright blue rug would not harmonize with furniture upholstered in red. Of course, that is an extreme case and the combination is cited merely as an illustration. A rug of neutral color is the best selection, for it will harmonize with any color used for furniture, draperies, etc.

QUESTION: Do you like more than one floor lamp for the living room?

ANSWER: That depends upon the size and furnishing of the living room. If it is large enough to have several groups, or centers of interest, one floor lamp will not be sufficient to give the proper amount of light. I believe, however, there is as much danger of making a room inharmonious by having too many lamps, floor and table, with overdecorated shades. Lamp shades are used for subduing too bright a light and also to add a decorative touch. Lamp shades should be chosen to harmonize with the room in which they are to be placed, not only in color, but line and proportion as well.

QUESTION: Are the long day-port tables good?

ANSWER: They may be used in a large living room, but they overcrowd a small room too much to be considered good. The smaller tables, placed where they will be most efficient, will be found to be the better. Such tables, if used, the gate leg, the tip-top, the end tables, and the like.

QUESTION: Would you have a writing desk in the living room? If so what kind?

ANSWER: A writing desk may properly be placed in the living room. The "kind" would depend upon the kind of the other furniture in the room. If window chairs and gateleg tables are used, a spinet desk would be a good choice. There are many Diet and Health By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

CHAPTER XLII

Colic

My nursery. Middle of the night. Aunt Sue anxiously poring through a book on the care of infants. Daddy in pajamas and dressing gown heard at the telephone trying to get our doctor. Mama walking back and forth with a terribly unhappy look on her face and tears in her eyes. A writhing bundle of screaming babyhood in her arms. Mc Agony. A fearful tearing, splitting, gripping, frightful, torturing, horrible agony in my abdomen. Colic.

"Oh, what shall we do? What shall we do? I don't know anything in the book about colic, Sue? Baby will die before Doctor gets here. I don't believe it is the colic. Colic couldn't cause such agony as Baby is having. It must be acute appendicitis. Something must have burst inside of him. Oh, what do you suppose could have brought this on?"

"Oh, if Mother were only here. She would know what to do. She told us we ought to have some anise seed in the house to make some tea with in case the baby should have colic, but we thought she was old-fashioned and that Precious would not have colic. Oh, what could have brought this on?"

What could have brought this on? That's what I wanted to know. What had I ever done as my innocent life to have to suffer as I was suffering? Could it be possible that I had sinned in some way, unknowingly? I feared I could not stand very much more. I felt that I would rather undergo a speedy dissolution than to go through the torture that I was suffering.

Ah! Bliss! I had a moment's rest. The demon inside of me was apparently exhausted for a time. But not for long. Suddenly I was in the throes of the gripping agony again. I feared I could not stand another round of it. Mama feared so too and she was now crying freely. I doubled up my body as much as I could, my abdomen was hard, my hands and feet were cold.

At last, Aunt Sue has found something on colic. She reads—"Colic in every instance means indigestion. It means that, whether breast-fed or bottle-fed, the food is not suitable. It is not adapted to the child's digestive powers, or not properly given."

"Nursing mothers of colicky babies are usually of sedentary habits, hearty eaters, and constipated. Our first step must be to cure the constipation of the mother. She should have one full, free passage from the bowels daily. She should exercise in moderation in the open air; a walk of an hour in the morning, and an hour in the afternoon, will be most beneficial."

"Menstruation often causes temporary attacks of colic and other digestive disturbances in the child. Fright, anger, worry, or anything in the nature of a shock in the mother will often seriously affect the child's digestion. In short, when the nursing child suffers thus from digestive derangements, the error, nine times out of ten rests with the mother. The trouble is rarely with the child."

"But, Sue, all that is not helping the baby! Now the trouble is with the child. I'll have time enough to find out what I have been doing that's wrong. Read quick what to do to relieve Sock-ans now."

"Yes, yes," I screamed. "Relieve the baby! Now the trouble is with the child. I'll have time enough to find out what I have been doing that's wrong. Read quick what to do to relieve Sock-ans now."

BELIEVE FORD IS BEHIND CAR LINE

Auto Manufacturer Said to Be Guiding Detroit's Street Car Project

By W. R. STOKLEY
DETROIT, Jan. 12.—The unseen hand of Henry Ford steering the course of Detroit's municipal railway lines through William B. Mayo, his chief engineer, is believed to be at work here. Mayo has taken charge of the street railway system and announces the inauguration of two out-and-out Ford policies—construction of street cars by the city and a bonus system for employees of the city lines.

Ford has always schemed to manufacture everything that goes into the "river," and Ford employs have benefited from the bonus system for years. That Mayo's injection of two well known Ford principles into the street car system was "inspired" is the belief of some observers.

Keeps In Close Touch

Ford has kept in close touch with street car affairs. Mayo, as a member of the Street Railway commission, was consulted by Mayor Couzens frequently. The automobile magnate has distinguished Mayo to devote as much of his time to the street railway lines as he may be required. Trailers will be built by the city at first, and Mayo estimates they can be built for about $8,000, a saving of $1,000 above private prices.

The bonus system is planned to encourage street car platform men to avoid accidents. The division will be made on a basis of merit, and records made by employees will be compared closely.

Detroit factories will dismiss employees piecemeal instead of en masse to aid in relieving street car congestion.

Will Mayo dare apply Ford's latest suggestion to the street car lines—cut the fare one-half? Mayo refused to comment when asked about it.

When Ford announced a few months ago the price of the "river" would be cut below the cost of production, many business men predicted nothing but disaster for his company as a result. Right now Ford is making more money than ever before through increased sales.

Now he suggests the same method be employed in the street car business.

"Cut the fare one-half, and force the people to ride street cars" is Ford's plan for making the M. O. successful. "With the fares so cheap thousands who now drive automobiles would ride street cars."

Water Plants Are Los Angeles' Need

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Cheaper rates for municipal power can come only through immediate steps toward the development of additional municipal water-power plants, Chief Electrical Engineer E. F. Scattergood of the bureau of light and power, pointed out today in discussing the probable future of municipal electrical energy requirements in Los Angeles.

He asserted that in the very near future 1,000,000 horsepower of electrical energy will be required to meet the domestic, commercial and industrial needs of Los Angeles and that it is imperative for the municipal electric system to increase its power development program.

Mr. Scattergood printed out the success of the municipal plant during the past year. He said it showed a net surplus return of $1,298,572, which will enable the city to operate the distributing lines purchased from the Southern California Edison company.

"Approximately 70 per cent of the power supplied to consumers in Los Angeles by the municipal system is generated at the municipal plants at a cost somewhat under 0.45 cents per kilowatt hour," said Mr. Scattergood. "The balance is purchased from the Southern California Edison company at a cost of approximately 1.05 cents per kilowatt hour."

There is no prospect, for the future, of a very material change in such relative cost of power purchased as compared with the cost to the city of developing it through municipal plants, nor can the city's position be secure against power shortages, except through the establishment of additional municipal water-power plants.

McADOO BOOM IS BROUGHT IN OPEN

Washington Reports That Campaign Already Is Well Under Way

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Politicians in Washington say that a smoothly-oiled plan of campaign to make William G. McAdoo the Democratic presidential nominee in 1924 is already under way.

The campaign in favor of the former secretary of the treasury and son-in-law of ex-President Wilson really began some months ago, but now that the elections are over, now and more extensive plans are being drafted and the McAdoo boom is being put under way in earnest.

From now on, the activities of Mr. McAdoo's political supporters will be evident in all sections of the country. For one thing, Mr. McAdoo himself, who has been living the quiet life out in California since the last Democratic national convention, will step out more into the limelight. He will make more speeches, write more letters for publication and will generally conduct himself more like a presidential candidate. However, as a part of the game, he likely will go on denying that he has any presidential aspirations.

Backers Are Confident

The McAdoo backers in the Democratic party are more confident than ever since the election. They believe that the defeat of Senator Pomerene in Ohio put Mr. McAdoo's strongest potential opponent for the Democratic nomination effectively out of the running.

They feel, too, that the reelection of Representative Fitzgerald, Republican, in James M. Cox's home district in Ohio, has made materially easier the side-tracking of Mr. Cox. They were more afraid of Senator Pomerene than Governor Cox, anyway.

Believing they have the inside track now, the McAdoo supporters are out to keep the jump on the other factions within the Democratic party. Plans are being carefully laid to push the McAdoo movement into all the states at once, in the hopes of lining up the party organization in plenty of time to insure Mr. McAdoo control of the national convention two years hence.

Don't Fear Smith

The McAdoo men claim they have no fear of Al Smith of New York, who looms as the Tammany Hall presidential candidate in 1924. And in this connection, McAdoo leaders say emphatically that they will not seek to bargain with Tammany for support.

His split with Tammany Hall during the Wilson administration was believed to be one of the chief reasons Mr. McAdoo moved last year from New York to new political quarters in California.

Some of the McAdoo leaders, it is understood, feel that Woodrow Wilson can be induced to throw his support to his son-in-law in the next Democratic national convention. It will not be a surprise if Bernard Baruch, Josephus Daniels, Daniel C. Roper, Robert Woolley, Huston Thompson or some other McAdoo emissary makes a call at the former president's home on S street shortly to get Mr. Wilson's attitude.

Berlin Man's Proxy Is Sent to Prison

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—Having been sentenced to one month's imprisonment, John Griener, a Berlin tailor, violently striking the idea of losing his personal freedom, persuaded his assistant, Charles Bernick, to go to jail "by proxy."

A new suit of clothes was agreed upon as a fitting compensation.

Accompanied by Mrs. Griener, the young man, equipped with the identification papers of his boss, presented himself at the prison office on the appointed day. After a well-acted lachrymose scene of farewell from his supposed spouse, the substitute prisoner was taken to his cell.

All during his month's term the grateful boss supplied him amply with food packages. Everything had gone well when on the very day of his dismissal Bernick had the bad luck of running into an acquaintance in the warden's office who hailed him by his real name.

The fraud was discovered. Griener was sentenced to nine months and his unlucky "proxy" had to spend another five months on top of the one of voluntary imprisonment.

R. R. Labor Board Action Protested

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The Pennsylvania railroad has appealed to the United States supreme court to restrain the railroad labor board from interfering with an election of employee representatives and from publishing an opinion that the company had violated decisions of the board.

Tramp Cat Awarded Prize at Exhibition

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Story of a Cinderella tom cat who rose from ashes to eminence, was revealed here today when a certificate, from the Atlantic Cat club was delivered in the home of Joseph Frasca, down on New York's East Side.

The document which was received gleefully by Joseph Frasca, Jr., 12 years old, and his small sister, Antoinette, 3, declared that Snoozer Boy, the children's pet, had won first prize in the non-championship class at the annual cat show at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday.

Little Joseph told the tale of his pet's progress from rags to riches and from an alley cat to a blue ribbon.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Look For New Helpers
Establish Your Credit
Too Much Bad Air, Eh?
Federal Deputies Aid

By Gil A. Cowan

NOW that the spring of the new year looms on the horizon the various civic organizations of southern California are looking for new blood in their memberships, just as the trees and flowers seek another lease on life.

Glendale and Eagle Rock both are considering drives by their Chambers of Commerce in order that all may share in the support of the institution which advertises and represents the home community.

From past experience an organized campaign is most productive, for it gives everyone the opportunity of doing something more than merely paying dues. And that is the way it should be because the best salesman is the one who is "sold" to that which he represents.

Again, there is always someone who can reach every person in the community with an appeal for civic advancement. Sometimes it takes weeks and months, but eventually every thinking man or woman realizes the benefits derived from an active commercial organization.

Here's a novel idea being introduced in one California city: The merchants keeping charge accounts invite new patrons during one special week to bring in a dollar payment on some article and establish their credit.

By the way, folks, there is real value in doing that very thing. Practically speaking, the largest share of the country's business is done on credit. It permits you to buy things when they are needed and pay for them in thirty days or more, according to terms. While establishing your credit this new year, if you have not already done so, start a savings and checking account at the bank. You will find it to your advantage to have money in the bank instead of in your pockets.

You know there is a big hole at the top of any pocket and sometimes smaller ones at the bottom and the nickels, dimes and dollars disappear like water.

A contemporary caustically comments that marriage by radio has been declared illegal, but people seeking divorces can always air their troubles.

Really the rot that is published daily about divorce proceedings isn't worthy of the space, but neighbors like to read the horrible details of infidelity, hair-tearing, shirt-pulling, etc., that is none of their business and belongs to the privacy of the home until a final decree is granted.

And by that time the public would lose interest in such ancient history; also, the newspapers would have space to print the local news and gain the respect of their readers.

There is enough real humor in this old world of ours, enough thrills in life, to keep up the tempo without besmirching everyone so unfortunate as to try to untangle domestic difficulties.

Certain attorneys of unsavory reputation, fight their cases through the newspapers and thereby force property settlements without any regard to justice—just so they get their fat fees.

Is it the boast of field deputies of the internal revenue income tax division that they not only collect big sums from those who must amend their reports, but they show many a business man where he is making the most money and doesn't know it.

In turn, they are offered positions and "tips" yet these must be foregone while the government pay is insufficient to properly keep these high class men.

FARMERS SELLING THEIR OWN GOODS

Wisconsin Producers Form
Co-Operative System;
Do Big Business

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 12.—Wisconsin farmers are solving their marketing problems through one of the largest systems of co-operative associations in the country. An annual business of $60,000,000 a year is done through co-operating successfully in fourteen different branches of the farm activities.

Success of the Badger co-operatives is due in large degree to the fact that the organizations have been evolved through long development and with some state aid and supervision, and to the fact that many of the farmers of the state are of Scandinavian descent, according to Prof. B. H. Hibbard, of the agricultural economic department of the University of Wisconsin.

The Scandinavians' successes are due to long experience in their mother countries, where agricultural co-operatives are a matter of government policy.

Cheese Factories Cooperative
About 800 of the two thousand cheese factories that make up the manufacturing end of the industry in which Wisconsin produces three-fourths of the nation's supply of cheese are co-operative, it is estimated.

More than 600 co-operative live stock shipping associations are in operation at present, the first one in the United States having been started at Ellsworth, Wis., in 1908.

Of the 835 creameries, 380 are co-operative. Co-operative mercantile stores have been least successful in the state, 17 out of 57 started having "failed in business."

Other branches of co-operative activity in the state are 98 feed, elevator and produce companies; 27 potato shipping organizations; 122 community breeders' associations; 24 mutual insurance companies; about 450 mutual telephone companies; 6 tobacco marketing organizations, and 6 fruit exchanges.

Most of the successful co-operatives started in small enterprises, devoted to handling of essentials developed under efficient handling.

Railroads' Invoice Ordered by Board

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—An investigation to determine if the railroads of the United States are being operated efficiently and economically was ordered today by the interstate commerce commission.

The commission will endeavor to learn if the carriers have made reasonable expenditures for the maintenance of equipments and to ascertain the manner and method in which the business of the roads is conducted with reference to "car service."

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—"The more I saw of people the more I thought of dogs."

These words of Mrs. Sidmond McHie will be inscribed over the entrance to an animal hospital which will be built after her death by the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, it was learned today.

Man 'Kidded' About Fire, Stabs Friend

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—A fight which started when one man "kidded" the other about a small bonfire resulted in the arrest of R. F. Trout on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon while Melvin Germain, thirty-first street grocer, was in a serious condition at a local hospital.

According to the police Trout ran to Germain's store to use the telephone to call the fire department to extinguish a fire down the street. The grocer after seeing the fire from a distance declared it could be extinguished with a bucket of water. Germain is then said to have "kidded" Trout for having called the fire department. Trout is alleged to have become angry and cursed Germain, who stabbed him. Trout then is alleged to have stabbed Germain in the ribs with a knife.

SMILE WHEN YOU PAY INCOME TAX!

Collector Goodcell Presents New Slogan in Talk at C. of C. Meet

wait until the last few days before starting to fill out the blanks. We urge that you begin as soon as possible so as to avoid the rush that always occurs as the time limit approaches."

All of which was another way of saying: "Do your income tax early!"

Tax Paying Topic
In presenting Collector Goodcell, President Smith promised the audience it would hear an orator and the federal official, for more than an hour, held the interest on a theme—tax paying—that takes a "powerful talker" to win the sympathy and develop emotions of any set of people. Collector Goodcell told stories, quoted figures, cited facts and argued—all to the end that one must and should—

"Smile when you pay your income tax!"
The speaker pointed out that the internal revenue department was a servant of the people, that the law was there to be carried out—placed there indirectly by the people themselves—and that it should be a pleasure to pay the tax when one considers all the benefits and protection derived through the taxation.

"I have more respect for the man who may point a gun at my head and demands my purse than I have for the man who makes a false return to the United States government," declared Collector Goodcell. The highwayman, at least is taking a physical risk. The man who cheats the government is not only doing that, but he is cheating himself, his family, his friends and you. And the arm of Uncle Sam is gradually reaching out for such men and is gradually getting them, too. Uncle Sam never fires and, in time, will get them."

Meet It with Smile
"It has been estimated that the government gets but about sixty-five per cent of the tax money that is due it. But it is hoped, by a campaign of education—and other measures when necessary—to gradually change this condition until it will have the realization that it is a pleasurable duty to meet the obligation to the government—and meet it with a smile."

Collector Goodcell told of one man, a citizen of Los Angeles, who paid a quarterly installment of $40,000 and did it with a smile.

"That man told me," said the speaker, "that he was happy to be able to pay the tax; that he was glad to know that he was doing his part in sustaining a government that gave him more protection than any other government on earth. He actually smiled as he handed over his check to me."

The collector also explained during his address that additional exemptions have been made so that the man of a small income—and they are, he stated, far in the majority—received greater benefits, comparatively, than the man of wealth.

Not for Rich Men
"It is not a rich man's law—it is a law for the person of small income," he declared. "The man of small income is not hard hit; he really receives more benefits than the wealthy man."

The speaker recited figures to show how great reductions had been made for those having moderate incomes and declared that if the people really understood the system praise would go forth instead of "cousings."

"I am called the infernal collector of internal revenue," he declared. "Yet this very taxation, the lowest of any government, gives you the best protection of any government. It insures you happiness, it brings you prosperity, it means contentment. It is enforced by the same government that you backed with your dollars and your sons in the great war. You went the limit then, do your bit now—and do it with a smile!"

Appeal to Patriotism
Throughout Collector Goodcell's talk was an appeal to patriotism, love of country and duty of citizenship. He showed how each person was a unit in the making of the nation and asserted:

"You owe it to yourself to meet your obligation, for you, as a unit of the country in which you prosper and gain contentment, either make or mar that country—and your own happiness."

At the conclusion of Collector Goodcell's address, President Smith expressed the thanks of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce for the sentiments expressed and declared:

"I have heard many talks on patriotism—those of us in the service listened to many of them—but the address here tonight by Judge Goodcell is by far the best I have ever heard and I feel sure that we have a new conception of our duty and that we can 'smile' when we pay our income tax."

A number of questions were asked by the audience concerning details of the collection system and all were answered by Collector Goodcell or his deputies. After the meeting adjourned, others in the audience also asked questions and the assurance was given that any who seek information with the office of the collector of internal revenue in Los Angeles or may await the visitation of the field deputies here, at dates to be announced later.

In the meantime, prepare to: "Smile when you pay your income tax!"

GIRLS PLAN FOR MOUNTAIN CABIN

School League Will Discuss Project at Meeting on January 26

A cabin in the mountains is contemplated for the girls of Glendale Union high school. The question as to whether it would be better to order insignia pins or promote the construction of a mountain cabin will be discussed on January 26 at a meeting of the girls' league, which includes in its membership every girl in the high school.

The expense of having a cabin built in the Arroyo Seco, Santa Anita or Big Tujunga canyons is estimated at $500. This sum would be raised through a series of benefits and would not be assessed against the individual members of the organization.

Miss Helen Sherwood, president of the girls' league, is enthusiastic about the advantages of a cabin suitably located where groups of girls might go for week-end trips. She does not believe, however, that arrangements should be made simultaneously to purchase a cabin. She is of the opinion that, if the cabin is agreed upon as the most desirable, it may be possible to get the pins later in the term.

PORTER TRACT IS LISTED FOR SALE

Property Is Between Brand And Central; Fifteen Lots in Estate

The former William S. Porter estate is now being put on the market. Many residents of Glendale will recall the beautiful four and a half acres that lies between Brand and Central, south from Dryden avenue.

Surveyors, graders and cement men are now busy cutting a street through what is one of the most beautiful homesites in Glendale.

This property was purchased of the Porter estate by Seymour Hardy Thompson, about two years ago with the idea of making it his home.

The wonderful growth of Glendale has caused a change in this plan, Mr. Thompson says. He now has decided to retain only the corner lot on which stands the Porter home.

Fifteen lots are made available by this subdivision. Each one a different size and price; many have magnificent oak trees shading the lawns.

Quality Shop Sale Attracts Big Crowd

It's not an infrequent sight to see a long line of people standing in front of a local theatre waiting to see some big feature bill, but yesterday Glendaleans witnessed a throng of people awaiting entrance into the Quality Shop at 110 South Brand boulevard, where a gigantic clean-up sale was in progress.

The big feature was the "buy one, take one" attraction on sale dresses and the crowd gathered in front of the store yesterday had to be admitted by sections to avoid confusion. Then when the shoppers were once within the store it was necessary that they leave by the rear door after making their purchases.

So popular were all lines offered that the shop owners announced that the sale will continue tomorrow with the "buy one, take one" offer still open on a new line of dresses. Saturday is the final day of the sale.

SUGGESTS LARGER WATER SYSTEMS

Public Service Head Favors Extension of Mains on Two Thoroughfares

An extension of the water system west on Milford street from State street to San Fernando road and on San Fernando road between Doran street and California avenue was suggested last night by Peter Diederich, superintendent of maintenance for the public service department, in a communication to the City Council.

"In the last few years I have had numerous requests for water service to property on the eastern side of this street," he remarked, "but was unable to serve them as there were no water mains."

"The property is improved now with lumber yards and feed stores and there is a great need for water and fire protection."

Interviewed Owners
"I interviewed the majority of property owners along this thoroughfare and they readily agreed with me that a water main was needed and offered no objection to having the same done."

"I would request that, if the council desires, that a water main be installed on San Fernando road at the above location and that instructions be issued to the engineering department to have this improvement included in the same proceedings with the Milford street improvement which adjoins this improvement."

City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy was instructed to make the necessary plans.

UNDERGOES OPERATION
Mrs. W. D. Evans of 520 South San Fernando road was operated upon this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Boy Scouts Council Will Banquet Tonight

The Verdugo Hills District Council of the Boy Scouts of America will hold its first annual meeting commencing at 6:30 in the Citizens' Building following a turkey dinner.

During the dinner the Boy Scout orchestra consisting of Dallas Kaibach, drums; Arthur Barton, saxophone; Horace Brown, violin, and Graham Young, piano, will play several of the latest song hits. Mr. Chandler will be the toastmaster and D. Ripley Jackson will be the official song leader and "pep promoter."

"A Toast to a Boy Scout" will be given by Dr. Harry B. Crawford of Eagle Rock and Leonard F. Collins, superintendent of schools at Burbank, will speak briefly on "Scouting as Seen by a Scoutmaster." Eagle Scout Clifford Walcott will deliver to the Council a message of thanks and appreciation on behalf of the Boy Scouts of the Verdugo Hills. Spencer Robinson, accompanied by Mrs. Robinson, will sing.

Representing the Twelfth Regional District of the Boy Scouts of America, Charles N. Miller of Pasadena will talk for a few minutes telling of the tremendous growth of Scouting in the west during the past year.

Following committee reports of the local progress made during 1922, officers will be elected for 1923. The meeting will be officially closed by all standing and giving the Scout Oath led by Scout Jack Packard.

"Thanks to the efforts of Richardson D. White and his committee, an unusually appropriate program has been arranged, which is going to be very much worth while," said Scout Executive H. F. Benner.

FRIGHTENS CROWS
To frighten away crows an inventor has patented a figure of a dead bird the wings of which, when it is hung on a tree limb, are moved realistically by the wind.

The chief objection to the fool killer's method is that he persuades his victim to rock the boat while it has other occupants.

Ex-Follies Dancer Sues Bay City Man

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—Relating a tale which reads like a "dime novel" in its thrills, Miss Dorothy Koch, 23, former dancer in the Winter Garden Follies of New York, filed suit for $25,000 damages in Superior court here, alleging false arrest, false imprisonment and kidnapping. Lee R. Herbert, 30, now engaged in the automobile business here, and said by the girl to be a former wealthy Indiana farmer, is the defendant.

According to the complaint, the girl alleges he kidnapped her to force her consent to marriage and terrorized her by his alleged cave-man tactics. An airplane pursuit in which he is alleged to have followed her to Los Angeles from San Francisco and forced her return after twenty minutes' stay in the southern city figures in the case. The girl was found by two girl friends, Miss Margie White and Miss Edyth White, at a local hotel after a week's search where Miss Koch claims she was held prisoner by Herbert who told her, she said, warrants for her arrest had been issued which would send her to "prison."

Movie Men Against 'Unsavoury Publicity'

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—"Unsavoury publicity," such as Roscoe Arbuckle has been accorded, may break down the rule that an actor's private life should not be considered in judging his fitness to appear, was the decision of the executive board of the National Committee for Better Pictures. The committee is affiliated with the national board of review, and approved a resolution which read in part:

"When offensive incidents in the life of a screen star have been widely published, the actor's very personality becomes an element in the moral influence of a film and can no longer be overlooked."

To Our Customers and the Public In Southern California:

THE SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA GAS COMPANY submitted application to the Railroad Commission of the State of California for authority to issue $1,000,000 par value of its 6 per cent Cumulative Preferred Stock on Wednesday, January 10th. It is the intention of the company, as soon as authority to make such offering has been granted, to invite its customers, the public in Southern California, and its employees to purchase this stock and thus become associates and partners in the Company.

IF YOU ARE A CUSTOMER OF THE SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA GAS COMPANY, we believe you are getting gas service that meets your requirements and your approval. We honestly feel that about all that can be done in the way of enthusiastic and untiring work in the cause of good service is being done by our organization in your behalf.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA GAS DEPENDABLE SERVICE has perhaps become so much a part of your daily life that you have not noticed the steady, substantial growth of the Company that gives this service. This growth and the sound, substantial service giving position which this Company now occupies is now, perhaps, worthy of your active notice because of this announcement.

REALIZING THE GREAT VALUE OF A CLOSER COMMUNITY OF INTEREST with those upon whose good will this business is founded, the Southern California Gas Company extends an invitation to all of its customers to become profit-sharing partners in this long established and successful business, and to share as such, in its management and profits, by investing in its 6 per cent Cumulative Preferred Stock through direct purchase from the Company.

IN OFFERING THIS STOCK FOR SALE DIRECT TO OUR CUSTOMERS, it is not primarily the purpose of the Company to secure capital. For a number of years, all of the capital that has been necessary to enable this Company to keep pace with the growth of the community has been raised through the regular investment banking channels. It is easier to raise money through that source than to engage in a campaign of this sort. The management of the Southern California Gas Company, however, desires to secure its own customers as partners and associates with us in this enterprise—yourself among them. We believe that you feel the same pride in the growth of Southern California that we do, and that you will realize that the extension of utility service is necessary for community advancement and that in investing in stock of the Southern California Gas Company you are contributing toward that purpose.

THE FINANCIAL POLICIES OF THE SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA GAS COMPANY have always been conservative with the result that the Company is today in a very strong financial position and its securities rank second to none in their class.

WATCH THE PAPERS FOR AN ANNOUNCEMENT OF THIS OFFERING. Full details regarding the stock and the advantages of an investment in it will be made at that time.

To assure getting particulars of this offering, fill in your name and address, clip and mail to Securities Department Southern California Gas Company, 350 South Broadway, Los Angeles, California.
